Guidelines on Communal Harmony (information given by Ministry of Home Affairs):

Ministry of Home Affairs has issued revised guidelines to the States and Union Territories in June, 2008 to promote communal harmony. A Bill titled "The Communal Violence (Prevention, Control and Rehabilitation of Victims) Bill, 2005" which was introduced and pending in the Rajya Sabha was withdrawn and the Bill titled "The Prevention of Communal Violence (Access to Justice and Reparations) Bill, 2013" was prepared and the said Bill was approved by the Cabinet on 16.12.2013. Notice for introduction of the Bill in the Rajya Sabha was sent on 17.12.2013 but could not be introduced. Notice was again given on 20.01.2014 for introduction of the said Bill titled "Prevention of Communal Violence (Access to Justice and Reparations) Bill, 2014". However, the House after a discussion in the Rajya Sabha on 05.02.2014 deferred its introduction.

The details of communal violence reported in the country, as per information provided by the Ministry of Home Affairs, are as under:
